

Joke Bürmann

Dr. Joke Bürmann is currently a senior lecturer at the School of MIA, specialising in Operations Research and Machine Learning. She has industry experience in areas including business analytics, data and optimisation analysis, business intelligence and application development. Her areas of interest include metaheuristic and approximation algorithms, mathematical programming, machine learning and data analytics.

